

Village Police and VIPs Greet Kids & Parents on First Day of School

August 27, 2009

Officers Michael Valdez and Ricardo Arenas of the Palmetto Bay Policing Unit direct parents to safe – and permissible – parking at Coral Reef Elementary School on the first day of classes.

Officers issue yellow warning flyers instead of parking violations during the first week of school.

Lt. Avial Sanchez of the Palmetto Bay Policing Unit offers warm greetings to students and parents at Coral Reef Elementary.

Palmetto Bay Mayor Eugene Flinn (center) with parent Beth Grant and Coral Reef's Assistant Principal Rachel Pierre-Louis.

Students enter Southwood Middle School.

Mayor Flinn, Councilwoman Shelley Stanczyk welcome back Superstars of Southwood.
