

Pumpkin Patrol – Halloween 2008

Mayor and Council, Escorted by members of the Village Policing Unit, Greet Trick-or-Treaters on the Dark Streets of Palmetto Bay with Glow Sticks and Good Cheer

Mayor Eugene Flinn is immediately surrounded by a traveling throng from the dark corners of the Village's Mangowood neighborhood.

Queen Elizabeth, a.k.a. Councilmember Shelley Stanczyk, steps out from her royal squad car at Palmetto Bay Park for a pose with (l to r) Alexandra and Alejandro Garcia, and Jennifer Torres of Palmetto Bay.

Councilmember Edward Feller, MD, greets Sylvana and Guiliana Raidt, guests at one of the hundreds of Halloween parties hosted throughout Palmetto Bay on Halloween night.

The Queen (Shelley Stanczyk, far right) and her fellow Councilmembers Edward Feller MD and Vice Mayor Linda Robinson converge at Palmetto Bay Park before heading out across the Village in search of goblins and other sorts of little creatures. The Queen's coach driver, Palmetto Bay Policing Unit Officer Carol Marcus, awaits.

Dr. Feller reaches out to the barefoot princess of Palmetto Bay, Alexis Star.

Palmetto Bay Policing Unit Officer Ricardo Arenas snaps to life a glow-stick for an angel in waiting.

Mayor Flinn and a slightly frightened Vice Mayor Linda Robinson caught on camera with some of Palmetto Bay's more sordid characters..

Mayor Eugene Flinn happens across Village employee Jian Santana, Building & Zoning Administrative Aide, and her daughter Arielle Thompson.
